

HOW TO GET TO THE WILD WEST COAST... TOFINO B.C.

Tofino is found on the wild west coast of Vancouver Island. Stand on the beach in Tofino and the next land you would reach, going west, would be Japan.

The drive between Victoria and Tofino was recently ranked as one of the top three drives in Canada in the 2004 edition of the Michelin North American Road Atlas.

Found at the very end of the Trans-Canada Highway, Tofino and Long Beach Lodge Resort are located 321 kilometres from Victoria, 208 kilometres from Nanaimo, (Vancouver Island's second largest city), and 130 kilometres west of Port Alberni and 42 kilometres north of Ucluelet on Highway 4 (also called the Pacific Rim Highway). Vancouver Island and Tofino are easily accessible by sea, air and land.

Driving times are approximate, especially if you stop to view the stunning scenery along the way:

Victoria to Tofino = 4.5 hours, Nanaimo to Tofino = 2.5 hours, Port Alberni to Tofino = 1.5 hours
